

Teaching and Learning

7 Key features- Partnership with parents

In the revised EYFS Statutory Framework 2021, there is a strengthened emphasis on children, families, and community.

The help that parents give their children at home can significantly impact their learning, and effective parental collaboration in a child's education sets the child up to excel in their early years and beyond.

Encouraging parents to talk, chat, play and read more with their children is crucial, even though it is not always easy. Practitioners can play a crucial part in supporting parents in this.

Task

How do you support parents in this area?

Allow practitioners time to explore the links below. Here you will find some useful information that could be shared with parents.

Improve your child's learning at home | Words for Life

Learning to talk | 3 to 5 years | Start for Life \(www.nhs.uk\)

Think of creative ways that this information could be shared with parents, you could consider-

- Notice boards and displays
- Digital formats
- Leaflets
- Parent groups/ stay and plays
- Verbal tips
- Activity setting and home learning tasks
- Photographs and videos
- Routines